②Louis Pasteur University (Strasbourg I) is a scientific, cultural and professional public institution which enjoys legal status and educational, scientific, administrative and financial autonomy. A European scientific, technological and medical university, ULP is known for the quality and wide diversity of its courses, for the excellence of its research, and for its dynamic policy of openness to its environment.

③

I was invited by Prof. Amalvict, who is working at EOST, Strasbourg. She had been in NIPR(National Institute of Polar Research) of Japan for her co-work about the absolute gravity measurement, in 2005.

EOST, she is belonged, is the well-known institute in the part of geophysics.

Specially, in my case, I'm studying about the gravity measurement using Superconducting Gravity(SG), and this institute has much solution about this.

Specially, about my study, because there are many researchers who have studied about SG for long periods, so I could expect it would possible to learn about it.

About language, I used English.

About Visa, as Europe permit 3 months' resistance without visa, it was no necessary.

④

I didn't take classes, but I could learn and discuss about the subject related with my study by personal communication.

⑤

Besides, I have visited local museums,
And I have visited Louvre museum in Paris.

⑥

about flight cost; my teacher paid it on behalf of me, because university would give me that cost about 2 or 3 months later.

About cost of living; I covered it by myself first, but I think this cost also would be paid by my university later.

⑦

I could communicate in English in the institute, and as the place(Strasbourg) I have been was a popular sightseeing point, I could communicate with citizens in English without much problem.

⑧

As reservation of hotel was canceled, so I had to sleep in very humble room.
